About the Artists

JANICE ARGO is currently a senior in Temple's Dance BFA program. Argo has training in contemporary, jazz, ballet, hip-hop, modern, Umfundalai, Neo-traditional West African and improvisation. In high school she trained at the Paul Klocke Studio of Dance in Aston, PA. During that time Argo completed pre-professional summer intensives at The Rock School in Philadelphia and at the Academy of International Ballet in Chester Heights. In her time at Temple so far, Argo has performed in BFA and MFA thesis works, as well as in previous Temple Student Dance Concerts. In October of 2021, Argo was one of the few dancers selected by George Staib to perform with the StaibDance company as a guest artist in the Philadelphia showing of their work, "fence." She was also a member and admin of the InMotion Dance Team of Temple University for 3 years and choreographed many dances for the team during her time with them. Currently, Argo dances with Project Moshen Dance Company under artistic director Kelli Moshen. She is also a guest teacher at her home studio, Paul Klocke Studio of Dance, teaching workshops and masterclasses for the students there in addition to her studies at Temple.

ROBYN BELLAH is a fourth-year student as a dance major at Temple University. She originally started dancing at Victory Christian Center and then trained at Eleone Dance Company. She learned ballet, modern and jazz in her early adolescence. She has performed in BFA and MFA showcases at Temple University. Once she graduates, Bellah wants to continue with her dance career and wants to expand her background by going to graduate school.

ABBY CRONIN is a third-year BFA student in dance and is earning a minor in Adult Organization and Development. She started her dance training at the age of three in her home state of Massachusetts. She danced recreationally for ten years in the styles of ballet, tap and jazz. She then branched out to a local ballet school where she participated in many performances of The Nutcracker among other shows as well. She finished her high school years as a competitive dancer training in the styles of contemporary, jazz, tap, ballet, pointe, acrobatics, and improvisation. She arrived at Temple University as a dance major in 2020 and has continued to train in her familiar styles as well as adding modern, Neo-Traditional African dance, and Umfundalai to her repertoire. She has performed in multiple BFA thesis pieces as well as a few MFA studio research pieces at Temple.

DYN GARCIA has been dancing for sixteen years of their life, and is currently studying at Temple University to get their BFA in dance. As an artist, they strive for creating compelling pieces of work to both draw the audience in and create a form of disconnection to help the viewer feel emotionally invested while introducing new ideas and concepts.

LIA HAYNES is a current fourth year student in Boyer's dance department from Plainfield, New Jersey, pursuing a double major in dance and Africology and African American Studies. She began her dance training at three years old at American Dance Studio in Plainfield, NJ, beginning with Ballet and Tap. Over the years she began training in other styles such as Jazz, Pointe, Horton, Graham, Contemporary, Lyrical, Umfundalai, West African dance techniques, and various Hip Hop styles such as House, Breaking and Waacking. With her broad interest in various dance styles and her passion for social justice and education, it has led her to choreographing and teaching dance locally in both New Jersey and Philadelphia as well as internationally in Ghana. In the future, Haynes plans to continue performing and teaching dance through an Afrocentric perspective to create socially challenging narratives both on and off stage.

BAILEY LYCHOCK is a senior at Temple University currently studying to get her BFA in dance. Growing up in Bucks County, PA, she started her dance training at Shannon Carney Dance Academy where she attended class and became a student dance teacher in exchange for free classes. She danced competitively for SCDA and attended dance conventions such as ASH and JUMP. During her Junior year of high school she completed DeSales Summer Dance Intensive. She has trained in many different styles of dance including, Ballet, Modern, Jazz, Hip Hop, Contemporary, Neo-Traditional West African, Umfundalai, and Improvisation. At Temple she has performed in BFA and MFA pieces and is currently working on her senior thesis. After graduating she plans to travel the world to learn and experience different dance styles to expand her knowledge and eventually open her own studio.

KARLY MEEHAN is a Chicago native who grew up performing throughout the Chicagoland area and the midwest with companies such as Midwest Dance Collective, Inaside Chicago Dance, and Giordano Dance Chicago. She obtained her BFA in Dance Performance and Choreography from the University of Nevada, Las Vegas in 2021. While attending UNLV, she had the wonderful privilege of performing lead roles in two works from the Erick Hawkins repertoire, "New Moon" and "Early Floating." Since graduating, Meehan has been invited back to UNLV as a guest choreographer in two shows for the performing arts department. Additionally, two of the works in her repertoire, "Butterflies" and "SONDER" have been featured in the Inaside

Dance Chicago choreography competition and the Inspired Dance Australia Film Festival. Meehan's choreography is based on studying the human experience and making emotions tangible through her art. She is currently an MFA candidate here at Temple, and hopes you enjoy the show!

MELANIE SMITH is a senior at Temple University pursuing her BFA in dance with a Political Science minor. She started her training at a Royal Academy of Dance school in Tecumseh, Michigan. After moving to the Philadelphia area, she danced competitively for six years with Beth Jacobsen School of Dance. She is trained in Ballet, Modern, jazz, hip hop, contemporary, Umfundalai, Neo-Traditional West African, and improvisation. After graduating, Smith hopes to perform internationally and continue to make comedic dance pieces. Smith is also an Owl Ambassador with Temple's Office of Undergraduate Admissions and has a love for cats, Marvel, and SpongeBob!

MADELINE SHURON studied theatre at Bryn Mawr College and is an MFA candidate in dance and teaching fellow at Temple University. As an artist and educator based in Philadelphia, she is interested in investigating embodied affect and interrogating the audience-performer relationship through an interdisciplinary approach of dance, theatre, film, puppetry, and clowning.

Temple University

Temple University's history begins in 1884, when a young working man asked Russell Conwell if he could tutor him at night. It wasn't long before he was teaching several dozen students—working people who could only attend class at night but had a strong desire to make something of themselves. Conwell recruited volunteer faculty to participate in the burgeoning night school, and in 1888 he received a charter of incorporation for "The Temple College." His founding vision for the school was to provide superior educational opportunities for academically talented and highly motivated students, regardless of their backgrounds or means. The fledgling college continued to grow, adding programs and students throughout the following decades. Today, Temple's more than 35,000 students continue to follow the university's official motto—Perseverantia Vincit, or "Perseverance Conquers"—with their supreme dedication to excellence in academics, research, athletics, the arts and more.
